The Specialization in General Business Administration provides students with an opportunity for study in related subjects in business and related areas such as: political science, mathematics, psychology or sociology.

Note: This specialization is not for programs that are essentially abridged versions of specializations or degree programs such as Accountancy or Computer Management and Information Systems offered by the School of Business. Thus, your proposed specialization should not include more than two courses from any one area in business. Your request must include only 300- and 400-level courses.

A. Please list the four courses you would like considered for your specialization:

B. Please provide a clear statement of your objectives for choosing these courses and indicate how the courses relate to your career and/or graduate school plans. Use reverse for additional space or attach additional pages.
