Surveys/Polls

- ✚ How do people know/take my survey?
You decide the method through the distribution process. This can be email, link embedded on a web page, link using a social network (e.g., Twitter, Facebook).
- ✚ Can anyone see my survey?
Depends upon how you published your survey.
- ✚ Can I create a template?
Yes, create a survey, assign a name that it is recognized as your template (and not an actual survey) and remember not to distribute it.
- ✚ Can I copy other surveys to create a new survey?
Yes. You can copy entire survey or just a question. You can copy from any survey you have saved, that has been shared with you from another user or from the library.
- ✚ Can I download my surveys or save them locally?
Yes, export as a .qsf file for a backup copy.
- ✚ When creating a survey what does display logic refer to?
Basically, it is the order or if questions are asked. Display logic is too involved to answer here. From your browser, navigate to <http://www.qualtrics.com/university>, select Question Options/display logic.

Results/Reports

- ✚ What happens to my results?
Results are shown in an Initial Report. Very basic, reports number of responses, percentages and basic statistics.
